

There is a new team of speech and language therapists working in Stoke-on-Trent nurseries and schools called the School Readiness team. The speech and language therapist who will be working across our Foundation Stage – Nursery and Reception Classes - is called Miss Lauren Brown. She will be training our staff to be able to tell when children need extra help with their talking and how to give them the right support.

The speech and language therapist will not be doing one to one therapy with children so if your child is going to speech therapy appointments you will still need to carry on going to your appointments.
